FAQs

Who is eligible to take ILR Classes?

ILR classes (ILR, LIR, SEN) are geared towards retirees; however, anyone 16+ is welcome to join us for a fabulous learning experience through both the ILR and the FCC Personal Enrichment courses (ACR, ENG, GVT, HEA, HOM, REC, FOR, PHO).

Can ILR benefit me?

Research shows continued learning strengthens the brain, improves memory, and increases quality of life. ILR offers fun, intelligent ways to keep the mind and body vitally engaged within a professional educational environment.

What kinds of classes does ILR offer?

We offer casual classes with engaging curriculum. Our classes are designed to help you explore a range of subjects like History, Health & Wellness, Arts & Music, and Nature.

How do ILR classes differ from other college courses?

Our classes are designed by and for adults. There are no tests or grades given and no experience or specific education is required for participation. There is plenty of opportunity for discussion and humor in this shared learning environment.

Who teaches ILR classes?

ILR programs are taught by passionate experts with a lifetime experience as well as a specific talent for facilitating the learning process among adults.

How can I learn more about becoming an ILR instructor?

We are always welcoming new instructors from a range of subject areas. If you or someone you know is interested, please contact the Community Education Program Manager, Kelli Ackiewicz, at 301.624.2732 or go to ILRFCC.org and submit an ILR Course Proposal Form.

How can I request a printed copy of upcoming ILR courses?

Course schedules are available at the FCC Welcome Centers and in brochure racks at the FCC Conference Center. To receive a schedule by mail, please complete our online Schedule Request Form at ILRFCC.org, or contact our ILR staff and we will add you to the course schedule mailing list.

NEW ILR MERCHANDISE AVAILABLE!

View clothing choices at www.business.landsend.com

Email the FCC Bookstore (bookstore@frederick.edu) with your selection and note that it is for ILR. Include item name, number, size, and color.

Evening Classes

Not yet retired? We offer some classes during evening hours to better suit your schedule. The icon (left) will identify evening classes throughout this course schedule.

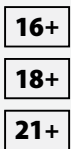

Structured Remote Courses (SR)

Structured Remote Courses meet as real-time online sessions during the scheduled class time. These courses are offered in an online format only. Students must be able to access the course from a computer/tablet using a link that will be emailed at least one business day prior to the course start. FCC will not be able to provide individual technical support to students during the class sessions. Should you experience difficulties and not be able to access the course, please contact the program office. Only students who have paid the course fee and are officially on the class roster may join the online class session.

Instructor Bios

Instructor bios are now online! Learn more about our incredible ILR instructors and view their bios at ILRFCC.org.

Age Requirement

This schedule contains courses not only from the ILR program but also courses from the Personal Enrichment program. Not retired yet? Good news! Anyone can take courses from either program as long as you are at least 16 years of age.

Senior Citizen Tuition Waiver

Tuition on select eligible courses is waived for Maryland residents 60 years of age and older. Associated course fees may still apply and are due at the time of registration. Eligible courses are identified by the "SW" icon following course descriptions. Please contact us at 301.624.2888 for assistance or additional information.

ACR172 Introduction to Voiceovers (SR)1 session, 1.5 hours | 18+ |

"Wow, you have a great voice!" Have you heard that more times than you can count? Or maybe you listen to your favorite audiobooks, commercials, or cartoon characters and think, "I could do that!" Want to earn income using your talents from the comfort of your home? If so, then you could have what it takes to begin working as a professional voiceover artist. Explore the voiceover industry with your instructor, a professional, working voice actor from the voice acting training company, Voices For All (VFA), in a one-on-one, personalized, video chat setting. Discover the current trends in the industry and how easy and affordable it can be to learn, set up, and work from home. In this one-time, 90-minute, introductory class, you'll also learn about the different types of voiceovers and the tools you'll need to find success. You'll get a comprehensive introduction into the voiceover industry. You'll learn through real life accounts of jobs your instructor has booked and get an inside look at their experience. You will also be able to gather information through the lecture part of the 90-minute session which will closely follow the outline provided for the class. Then it's time to perform a script and receive some coaching and performance ideas. Your instructor will take notes on your reads and create a professional voiceover evaluation delivered to you in a follow-up call after the class. This class will provide the knowledge necessary to help you decide if this is something you'd like to pursue. Learn more: <http://www.voicesforall.com/ooo>. You owe it to yourself to finally explore the possibilities of this fun and rewarding field! Upon registration you will be contacted by VFA to schedule your class for a day and time of your convenience. Students must be at least 18 years old to register for this class.

Note: The course date and time is scheduled at your convenience. Someone will contact you no later than a week from the date you register to arrange a date and time for your one-on-one course. This Structured Remote Course is entirely online.

LIR369 The Rise and Fall of American Women Through the Lens of Fashion: 1915-1950

3 sessions, 6 hours | SW

Rarely has 35 years in history made such a profound change in the lives of women. Two world wars and significant changes in education, work, and family have brought great upheaval to the experiences and cultural expectations of American women. This course will look at the history of this period through the lens of women's clothing, fashion, and popular culture to explore how women lived during this turbulent time and how broader societal shifts shaped the attitudes and experiences of future generations. Consider the following companion classes and bus trip as well: LIR282 (Chanel and Dior Fashion Visionaries), LIR295 (Preserving the Past: Caring for Vintage and Antique Clothing), and LIR326 (Explore the World of Claire McCardell - Lecture and Museum Exhibit).

LIR282 Arts and Culture Exploration: Chanel and Dior - Fashion Visionaries

3 sessions, 6 hours | SW

This course will focus on events, history, people, and expression as it relates to artistic culture around the world. Coco Chanel and Christian Dior shaped the world's understanding of a "fashionable woman" from the early 1920's throughout the turbulent 20th Century. Their unique visions of how a woman should dress for everyday activities, as well as for glamorous events, reveal much about their philosophies and life experiences. Learn about the intense rivalry between these two fashion icons and explore the magnificent clothing that each created. Consider the following companion class and bus trip as well: LIR295 (Preserving the Past: Caring for Vintage and Antique Clothing), LIR369 (The Rise and Fall of American Women Through the Lens of Fashion), and LIR326 (Explore the World of Claire McCardell - Lecture and Museum Exhibit).

NEW LIR361 America During Prohibition: How A Nation Kept on Drinking

6 sessions, 9 hours | SW

Starting with the early temperance movement and culminating in the passage of the 18th Amendment, this course examines the origins and implementation of Prohibition in the United States. It explores how Americans adjusted to laws that prohibited the production, transportation, and sale of alcohol, with particular attention to the lesser-known aspects of the era. Topics include alcohol smuggling, the rise of organized crime, the clandestine locations where people continued to drink, and the technological innovations that emerged to sustain illegal alcohol production and distribution. The course concludes with an examination of the political and social forces that led to the repeal of the 18th Amendment. This dynamic and densely packed period of history is often oversimplified as an era of prosperity, but it reveals a far more complex and compelling story.

LIR311 The Germanic Heritage of Frederick County

4 sessions, 8 hours | SW

Historic Frederick County was heavily settled by individuals from the Germanic states and nearby countries. The culture of these "hard working Germans" left a strong cultural footprint on all of Maryland, especially Western Maryland. They changed the nature of farming in Frederick County and it is believed that up to World War I some form of German was still spoken in families and could be heard on the streets of Frederick. Today two different Oktoberfests are celebrated in Frederick and the City of Frederick has two German "Sister Cities". We'll learn about these early German Americans, why they settled here, and the legacy they left behind.

NEW LIR381 More Than the "Razor": William Occam in History and Fiction

3 sessions, 4.5 hours

This cantankerous 14th-century English friar has been described as the first postmodernist, a co-founder of modern democratic theory, arguably the first male feminist, Martin Luther's hero, and (with Sherlock Holmes) an inspiration for the protagonist of Umberto Eco's great postmodern novel The Name of the Rose. Known to his admirers as Doctor Invincibilis, William Occam (or Ockham) was the premier philosopher-theologian of the late Medieval era. This course examines these claims, revealing Occam's imprint on contemporary politics, religion, science, and culture as the equal of any other philosopher. Before the first class, students are required to purchase and read Michael Harmon's murder mystery novel Invincibilis: A William Occam Mystery, available for purchase online. The novel will be used as a companion for the historical content of the course.

LIR364 Washington Tested: From Brandywine to Monmouth 1777-1778

5 sessions, 10 hours | SW

During 1777, at a critical point in the American Revolution, George Washington faced severe political and military setbacks in Pennsylvania. This course examines the period from the Battle of Brandywine Creek in September 1777 through the Battle of Monmouth Court House in June 1778, analyzing how these events tested Washington's leadership and authority. Major topics include organized efforts to remove or limit Washington's role as commander-in-chief, the hardships and lasting significance of the encampment at Valley Forge, and Washington's eventual political and strategic recovery following the Battle of Monmouth.

LIR363 Christianity's North African and Ethiopian Roots

6 sessions, 9 hours | SW |

Explore Christianity in Africa and its complex history dating back to ancient times. Christian communities were established in Egypt in the 1st century AD by Saint Mark, one of the apostles of Jesus. The communities were made up of Jewish converts to Christianity and developed independent of European Christianity eventually spreading to Ethiopia and other parts of North Africa in the 4th century AD through the efforts of Saint Frumentius and during the colonial period in the 19th and 20th centuries. Today, Christianity is the dominant religion in many African countries, with the majority of African Christians belonging to the Catholic, Protestant, and Pentecostal denominations. The course will also examine the role of King Ezana and the Kingdom of Aksum and Ethiopia's connection to biblical history and the ancient Near East, including traditions surrounding the Ark of the Covenant and the Queen of Sheba.

LIR268 Wars that Defined History: World War I

8 sessions, 12 hours | SW

World War I, the Great War, the War to End All Wars, was the defining event of the 20th Century. It ended the 19th Century and launched the world into the modern era. Though greater conflicts were still to come in the 20th Century, the First World War set the stage for the world as it is today. By its end the globe had been redrawn, empires had fallen, and war on a terrifying industrial scale, had been unleashed. We'll look into the world that was, how the Great War ended that world, and how nearly everything we know today comes out of the bloody fighting of 1914-1918 and its immediate aftermath.

LIR324 George Washington's Dream: The Potomac Company

2 sessions, 5 hours

Everyone knows something about the 1828 C&O Canal which runs along the Maryland side of the Potomac River. But do you know that George Washington created a company in 1785 to make the Potomac River navigable? The purpose of the company was not to build a canal but to "get the rocks out of the way" so that the ever-increasing farm products of the Potomac River valley and its tributaries would find their way to the port at Georgetown and out to the rest of the world. All of this took place over 200 years ago but there are still ruins we can examine and, in many cases, wonder at. The field trip involves walking up to 2 miles on mostly flat, well maintained trails. Students are to provide their own transportation to the meet up location for the hike. Please note that Great Falls has a $20 National Park admission fee per vehicle. Rain Date for hike - 11/12.

LIR370 The Other Side of the Bridge: The History of Maryland's Eastern Shore

4 sessions, 8 hours | SW

Maryland is divided into several distinct regions, one of which is the Eastern Shore. European colonists settled on the Eastern Shore early and it was, of course, already home to Native peoples. American slavery had a strong presence on the shore bringing forth some of our country's most famous Black abolitionists. Located between the Atlantic Ocean and the Chesapeake Bay, the region grew slowly, almost lacking an urban identity. Today many Marylanders know it simply as a weekend summer retreat or a retirement enclave. In this course we will discuss how and why the Eastern Shore developed differently along with learning aspects of its own unique culture. Come "down the shore" and see the Eastern Shore and its communities with fresh eyes.

SEN473 Current Issues in the Middle East

5 sessions, 10 hours | SW

One of the longest-running and most sought-after offerings in the ILR Middle East program, Current Issues in the Middle East, examines the rapidly evolving dynamics of this pivotal region. Each week, major developments in the news are presented, analyzed, and crucially placed in their proper historical context. Guided by a career educator and regional specialist, participants will move beyond headlines to understand how the past continues to shape present-day realities. The course emphasizes historical grounding as essential to interpreting current events, identifying key actors, tracing shifting alliances, and assessing regional and global implications. Weekly topics are driven by the news. Anticipated themes include U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East; the long-term implications of the U.S.–Israel war with Iran; evolving regional alliances; vulnerabilities among Arab Gulf states; competing perspectives on the Palestinian–Israeli conflict; prospects for Gaza; Israeli operations in Lebanon; and Syria’s reintegration into regional and global affairs. Additional challenges will be incorporated as they arise, including persistent authoritarianism, youth unemployment, economic diversification, water scarcity, and the impact of climate change.

ILR363 The Legacy of the Crusades

5 sessions, 10 hours | SW

The era of the Western “Crusades,” a series of religiously sanctioned wars, stands as one of the most consequential chapters in world history, bringing the peoples of Christian Europe and the Middle East into prolonged and often brutal conflict. Far from a distant medieval episode, the legacy of the Crusades continues to resonate, shaping cultural memory, informing perceptions, and, at times, influencing modern political discourse. This course examines the Crusades through a historical lens, moving beyond simplified and often misleading narratives. Participants will explore the religious, political, and economic forces that gave rise to these campaigns, including the Christian concept of “just war” and the Islamic understanding of jihad. Emphasis is placed on how these events—and the stories later told about them—have left a lasting imprint on both Eastern and Western societies. Key historical figures such as Eleanor of Aquitaine, Richard the Lionheart, Saladin, and St. Francis of Assisi will be considered in context, illuminating their roles not only on the battlefield but within the broader currents of their time.

LIR167 Frederick Walking Tour: Trains, Trolleys, and Automobiles

1 session, 1.5 hours

In this easy walking tour, we will explore the history of transportation in the downtown Frederick area. Learn about Abraham Lincoln's train visit and the importance of the railroad industry. We will stop by the exteriors of former sites that reflect the automobile industry and the trolley system and listen to stories about the locations. Then we'll head to Carroll Street and learn about its former railroad depot, fertilizer companies, grain warehouse and a prominent former bakery. Facts about local history will be pointed out as we stroll among the houses and buildings. This tour involves walking in downtown Frederick on mostly flat sidewalks for about 1.5 miles moving at a slow pace.

Rain Date - 10/3

Note: This tour will be conducted in downtown Frederick. Listening devices will be provided so participants can hear the guide over the noises of downtown. Students will be required to provide their own transportation to the meeting location. An email will be sent with trip details one week prior to the course date.

LIR326 Harbor of Freedom: Commerce and Black History in Baltimore

1 session, 7.75 hours

Explore Baltimore's rich maritime heritage and trace the powerful connections between Black history, trade, and commerce along the city's historic waterfront. Our journey begins with a self-guided tour at the Frederick Douglass–Isaac Myers Maritime Park and Museum, a cornerstone of African American history and industry, where you'll discover how a young Frederick Douglass honed his reading and writing skills while working as a ship caulker—skills that would later empower him to become one of America's most influential abolitionists. The museum also honors Isaac Myers, a pioneering Black businessman and labor leader who, alongside other free Black caulkers, founded one of the nation's first African American–owned shipyards. Lunch will be on your own at one of several restaurants located nearby. The tour then continues through the cobblestone streets of Fells Point, a bustling 19th-century port once alive with shipbuilders, sailors, and merchants. As you walk, you'll discover how Baltimore became one of the country's busiest ports, and how this waterfront became a crossroads of freedom, labor, and commerce. This tour involves walking several blocks at a time on uneven pavement and cobblestone streets and standing throughout the day.

Note: Transportation will be provided by the FCC Shuttle Bus. All bus trips depart from FCC. An email will be sent with trip details one week prior to the course date.

LIR376 Frederick County in the American Revolution: Mobile Workshop

1 session, 7 hours | SW

Don't miss this opportunity to learn more about local connections to "the American Revolution" during the 250th commemoration of this legendary conflict. July 4th marks the signing of the Declaration of Independence, but the war would rage on until its final, and formal, conclusion with the Treaty of Paris in 1783. Award-winning researcher/documentarian Chris Haugh will explain the effects of the Revolutionary War on the citizenry of Frederick. He will also introduce students to some of the brave individuals who joined the fight against enemy powers. Lastly, we will examine the legacy of the Revolution on the City of Frederick and Frederick County. We will also have an opportunity to visit sites such as Catoctin Furnace, Rose Hill Manor Downtown Frederick, the Hessian Barracks, and Mount Olivet Cemetery. Lunch will be on your own at a spot that offers several choices. Participants should expect to walk on trails, sidewalks and in a cemetery that may have uneven surfaces. We may walk up to 2 miles throughout the day.

LIR332 The Lincoln Assassination: On Site at Ford's Theatre

1 session, 6 hours

Travel back to 1865 Washington. During our bus ride into DC, we'll talk about the plot to assassinate Abraham Lincoln and how it grew out of a plan to abduct the President and hold him as a pawn to negotiate the release of Confederate prisoners of war. We'll drive by sites made relevant by the Civil War including John Wilkes Booth's house and the famed Surratt Boarding House where the fatal plot was formed. We'll then head to Ford's Theatre and tour the museum. You'll see the faces of the conspirators, and important artifacts, including the most valuable gun in history. Proceeding up to the balcony level, we'll be treated to a presentation by one of the National Park Service rangers. Then head across the street to the Petersen boarding house where President died after the fatal shot. A boxed sandwich lunch is included in the fee. Moderate walking is expected both inside the museum and outside for up to 3 blocks. All areas are accessible to individuals with limited disabilities.

LIR230 Mary's Monster: A Study on Frankenstein (SR)

5 sessions, 5 hours | SW |  |

Over 200 years ago, a 20-year-old Mary Shelley anonymously published Frankenstein, or The Modern Prometheus, a story that revolutionized horror and science fiction, as well as introduced one of the western world's most iconic monsters - Frankenstein's Creature. Since then, this tale and its infamous characters have been adapted, referenced, and riffed on across fiction, stage, and screen, becoming a cultural mainstay. Learn more about the inspiration and impact of Frankenstein, as well as its fascinating creation and publication, as we explore themes such as ambition, alienation, monstrosity, and more. Let's answer one of literature's most enigmatic questions: what is the line between man and monster? We recommend reading Mary Shelley's Frankenstein, or The Modern Prometheus, prior to class. The novel is available online for free. If you want a physical copy, we recommend purchasing the 1818 text/edition of the novel.

Note: This Structured Remote course is delivered entirely online and includes real-time sessions held during the scheduled class time.

Geoffrey Chaucer

LIR377 History of the English Language

4 sessions, 6 hours | SW

Explore the historical development of the English language from its origins in early Germanic dialects to its transformation in the Early Modern period. Students will examine the linguistic, cultural, and political forces that shaped English across three major stages: Old English, Middle English, and Early Modern English. We'll study the Old English of Anglo-Saxon England through selections from texts such as Beowulf, analyzing its grammar, vocabulary, and inflectional system. We'll then focus on the profound impact of the Norman Conquest on the growth of dialect diversity and the works of writers such as Geoffrey Chaucer. Finally, the course examines Early Modern English including the effects of the printing press, the standardization of spelling and grammar, and the language of writers such as William Shakespeare and the King James Bible.

ILR408 The Power of Being Present: The Four Foundations

4 sessions, 8 hours | SW

One often hears that the purpose of meditation is to learn to relax. Relaxing is often a byproduct of meditation. Another purpose for meditation can be to be to enter one's life more fully, being present on the spot to whatever comes up, rather than being riveted about by one's hopes and fears. The practice of the Four Foundations is a developed practice to enter our everyday lives more fully. Meditation allows us to make friends with ourselves and develop compassion towards others. This is a course on mindfulness. Not about becoming a Buddhist but rather about employing techniques that Gotama Buddha employed over 3,000 years ago. It worked for him, and it has worked for many people from a variety of spiritual traditions. So this is not a religious course, but it is about working with techniques and exercises that will allow one to enter the present of our ordinary lives more fully. Meditation instruction will be an integral part of this course.

LIR380 The Philosopher King: The Life, Times, and Meditations of Marcus Aurelius

5 sessions, 10 hours | SW

Nearly two thousand years ago, the Roman emperor Marcus Aurelius wrote a series of private reflections that later became known as Meditations. While never intended for publication, these writings have become one of the most enduring works of philosophy and offer a rare glimpse into the mind of the last of Rome's "Five Good Emperors." This discussion-based course explores the life and times of Marcus Aurelius, the influence of Stoic philosophy on his thinking, and the ideas contained in Meditations. After an overview of the historical world in which he lived and ruled, we will read selections from the text together and explore themes such as perspective, resilience, gratitude, duty, uncertainty, and our connection to the larger human and natural world. Through contemplation, conversation, and friendly debate, we will explore how these reflections may have helped an emperor rise to the challenges of leadership, adversity, and the ordinary trials of being human, while also considering whether his ideas resonate with us personally and how they might, or might not, translate to life in the modern age. Students may purchase the primary text Meditations by Marcus Aurelius for use during class; The Gregory Hays translation is recommended. New and used printed and e-book versions are widely available including free online version. The text, however, is not a required purchase as excerpts will be shared during the class sessions.

LIR350 Janus: Paradoxes of Responsibility and Freedom

3 sessions, 4.5 hours

Moral life entails a struggle to reconcile responsibility and freedom. Complicating that struggle is the Janus-like nature of these two words. Both embody opposing, contradictory meanings, which are then compounded when paired in opposition to each other. Any virtue contains the seed of a corresponding vice, and it is sometimes hard to know which is which. How can we know the difference between holding people accountable and scapegoating them? Or the difference between liberty and license or self-confidence and narcissism. The upshot of this is that moral life is inescapably paradoxical. This course provides a framework for identifying moral paradoxes, along with some hints about how to convert bad paradoxes into good (or at least manageable) ones. Jokes, puns, and the adventures of Captain Horatio Hornblower will guide this project and help us talk with, rather than past, one another.

ILR270 Being Human: Wealth & Poverty (SR)

4 sessions, 8 hours |

Is poverty an inevitable byproduct of civilization? What are the consequences of providing unequal access to food, medicine, shelter, and economic opportunity? How much inequality are we willing to tolerate? How much actually exists in our world today? In this sixth class in the popular Being Human series, explore the paradox of today's world in which great strides have been made in eradicating dire poverty, yet many millions remain oppressed while unprecedented amounts of wealth quietly trickle up to the privileged 2%. This class explores wealth and poverty from an anthropological view: we'll uncover the roots of inequality, the effect of social stratification on societies, the reasons for the persistence of poverty, and the innovations that have succeeded in creating a more egalitarian world.

ILR812 World History: The Big Picture

6 sessions, 9 hours

Any other history you may have studied will make more sense when you understand the fundamental overarching concepts that become clear with a "big picture" perspective. Based on the book, This Fleeting World - A Short History of Humanity by David Christian, this discussion-oriented course offers a global view of human history in one sweeping 250 thousand year panorama. Topics include: the engine that drives human history, how the adoption of agriculture led to the modern world, global differences in change and advancement, the rise and fall pattern of states, and the path of knowledge from the ancient to the modern world. This unique approach to history provides a context and framework into which all other studies of history fit.

Frederick Community College, ILR Summer/Fall 2026 — The information contained in this schedule is abbreviated for registration purposes. The provisions of this publication are not to be regarded as a contract between the student and Frederick Community College. Changes are affected from time to time in the schedule. FCC reserves the right to cancel courses due to insufficient enrollment. Full refunds will be issued for canceled courses.

Frederick Community College (FCC) prohibits discrimination against any person on the basis of age, ancestry, citizenship status, color, creed, ethnicity, gender identity and expression, genetic information, marital status, mental or physical disability, national origin, race, religious affiliation, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status in its activities, admissions, educational programs, and employment. Under the ADA and Section 504, FCC makes every effort to accommodate individuals with disabilities for College-sponsored events and programs. For FCC employees needing accommodations, including interpreting, please email humanresources@frederick.edu. For students and others with accommodation needs or questions, please call 301.846.2408, or to request sign language interpreter services, please email interpreting@frederick.edu. Sign language interpreters will not be automatically provided for College-sponsored events without a request for services. Requests must be made at least five workdays before a scheduled event to guarantee accommodations. If your request pertains to accessible transportation for a College-sponsored trip, please submit your request at least 21 calendar days in advance. Requests made less than 21 calendar days in advance may not be able to be guaranteed.

The College provides support services to students with disabilities. The specific needs of each student are considered on an individual basis. Students with disabilities are encouraged to contact the Disability Access Services (DAS) Office as early as possible after applying for admission. Reasonable accommodations, based on student request and disability documentation submitted, may be approved for classes and placement testing, if applicable. Students in need of sign language interpreting services should contact the Coordinator for Interpreting Services a minimum of two weeks prior to the beginning of classes to ensure services are in place.

Important Notes

- Out-of-County students (residing outside of Frederick County) are charged an additional $5 fee per class. Out-of-State students (residing outside of Maryland) are charged a $10 fee per class.
- A $15 one-time-per-year, non-refundable registration fee is due at the time of registration. This fee is only refundable when FCC cancels a class for which the student paid the registration fee and the student has not enrolled in any other classes during this period.
- The Tuition Waiver for Adults age 60+ is exclusive to Maryland residents for select classes.

Class Refund Policy

Class Cancellations Initiated by the College. All students will be refunded 100% of class tuition and fees if a class is cancelled by the College.

Drop/Refund Request within Refund Period

Students who chose to drop a CEWD class will receive a full refund provided that they initiate the drop at least two (2) work days prior to the class start date. Other classes with a different full refund period will be noted in the shopping cart upon check-out. The class refund policy is also provided in the registration confirmation email.

Students have two methods to drop a class:

1. Self-drops: log into your account at frederick.edu/ILR. Navigate to Menu > Cancel. Self-drops are available up to seven (7) days prior to the class start date.
2. Email CEInfo@frederick.edu any time prior to the refund deadline. The drop/refund request must be initiated from the email address associated with the student's account.

Refund Request Outside of Refund Period

Students seeking a drop/refund for a class outside the refund period can initiate the request for extenuating circumstances by completing the Drop/Refund Request Form at frederick.edu/CEWDrefund. Students will be asked to provide documentation supporting the student's request. Appropriate documentation may include electronic or hard-copy documents from medical providers, employers, child care providers, or others that can validate extenuating circumstances. The college reserves the right to approve a full, partial, or deny a refund request submitted outside the full period for the class.

Approved Refunds

Where possible refunds will be generated back to the original form of payment. Cash and money order payments will be refunded by check and mailed to the address on file. Please allow 10-14 business days to receive refunds.

Registration Fee

A $15 one-time-per-year, non-refundable registration fee is due at the time of registration. This fee is only refundable when FCC cancels a class for which the student paid the registration fee and the student has not enrolled in any other classes during this period.

Age Requirements

Students should be at least 16 years of age to enroll in most continuing education courses, except for those courses specifically designated for younger students. Students under the age of 16 who have completed at least the seventh grade may be permitted to enroll on a case-by-case basis. Students will be considered for such admission if they demonstrate the ability to profit from instruction based on a set of specific criteria. For more information, call the counseling office (301.846.2471). Certain programs or courses of study include higher minimum age for participation when the College has determined that age is a factor necessary to the normal operation of the program or activity. Minimum age is used as a measure of approximation of the level of maturity, judgment, and social independence needed for successful participation in the program or activity in addition to academic skills. [Authority:34 CFR 110.12]

College Policies & Procedures

All students agree to abide by the policies and procedures of FCC, including those concerning drug and alcohol abuse, weapons on campus, student conduct, classroom behavior, discrimination, grievance, and other policies and procedures. Students understand that not abiding by these policies and procedures will subject them to the penalties stated within. See frederick.edu for student policies and procedures and the Student Code of Conduct.

Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA)

FERPA, commonly known as the Buckley Amendment, was issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the 1976 Federal Register. The regulations were transferred to the Department of Education when it was established and codified in Part 99 of Title 34 of the Code of Federal Regulations. The purpose of FERPA is to afford certain rights to students concerning their educational records. FERPA applies to all schools that receive funding under most programs administered by the Secretary of Education. Most post-secondary institutions, both public and private, generally receive such funding and must, therefore, comply with FERPA. FERPA applies to all education records maintained by a post-secondary institution, or by any party acting for the institution, which are directly related to the student. These include but are not limited to assessment test scores, academic standing, rosters, class schedule, or any information must contact the Enrollment Center (located on the first floor of Jefferson Hall) in writing with their request. Contact the Welcome Center for additional information.

THE CURIOUS TRAVELER CLUB

Free and open to all ILR students

Each session will include either a short presentation by an instructor, a travel enthusiast, or a travel company. We hope to inspire you and introduce you to new travel opportunities. This is a great way to meet fellow students who also enjoy traveling. Meetings will typically run monthly this fall. Happy travels!

The club will be led by travel loving ILR instructor, Marcy Gouge. Meetings will be July - December. Check online for the meeting location and format.

Please check ILRFCC.org for the most up to date meeting schedule, topics, and where to meet.
